Coquitlam, BC – Long before actor Tim Allen picked up any tools, he was enjoying a successful career as a stand-up comic. In fact, he began working the comedy circuit at night while working during the day at an ad agency in Detroit. It was in the late 80's when after Allen moved to Los Angeles that he began to make a name for himself appearing on numerous cable comedy specials. He ended up headlining the first of his own, Men Are Pigs which aired on Showtime in 1990. Eventually he succeeded in persuading a studio to use his "Men Are Pigs" routine as the basis for a sitcom and a year later, Home Improvement was born. The hit sitcom featured Allen as Tim "The Tool Man" Taylor ... a know-it-all handyman who hosted his own TV show, "Tool Time." The series ran on ABC from 1991 to 1999 earning Allen a Golden Globe Award for Best Actor.

Allen then struck gold in 1994 with the release of his first book, Don't Stand Too Close to a Naked Man which topped the New York Times Best-Seller List. He also starred in his very first motion picture, The Santa Clause which was the highest grossing film for the year. He then went from gold to platinum when he voiced the role of "Buzz Lightyear" in the 1995 film, Toy Story. His second book, I'm Not Really Here was released the following year and it too became a best seller. Recently he made his feature film directorial debut producing the independent comedy, Crazy on the Outside in which he also stars opposite Ray Liotta and Sigourney Weaver. Allen remains passionate about doing his stand-up and continues to perform across North America and will be appearing for two shows ... one night only ... at Boulevard Casino's Red Robinson Show Theatre in June.
